

OACB honors Dean Fadel for distinguished service

FCBDD Board President Dean Fadel was recognized for his service in the field of developmental disabilities by the Ohio Association of County Boards (OACB) on December 4th. He was one of three persons to receive the Distinguished Service Award at the organization's 30th annual convention held at the Easton Hilton.

President Fadel has headed FCBDD since January, 2012. He has also been active on the state level as a member of the board of trustees of OACB. He chaired that board in 2012.

Along with his brother Jeffery, Mr. Fadel has been a strong supporter of the sibling movement. The pair gave the keynote presentation at DD Awareness Day festivities at the Ohio Statehouse in March.

"People say he (Jeffery) is lucky to have me," Mr. Fadel said, "but I am lucky to have him. People say,

Agency purchases 10 propane-fueled buses

Continuing its effort to be more environmentally friendly, FCBDD has purchased ten propane-fueled school buses. Delivery of the vehicles is expected in May.

Since 2011, the agency has been using one propane-fueled bus on a trial basis. The rest of the fleet runs on diesel fuel.

The trial has been successful according to FCBDD Director of Transportation Paul Chenderlin. "We wanted to see how well a propane bus would work for us," he said. "It has worked very well."

He pointed to several advantages. "Propane results in fewer tailpipe emissions than diesel fuel. It is about 30% cheaper. And since the propane buses lack exhaust cleaning systems, less maintenance is required."

The buses were purchased from Cardinal Bus Services, the Ohio distributor for Blue Bird buses.

The buses will have the same markings and be the same color as other agency buses, but they will have conventional school bus fronts, rather than flat fronts as other large FCBDD buses have.

OACB honors outstanding legislators

In recognition of their work on behalf of persons with developmental disabilities, two state legislators from Franklin County were honored at the 30th Annual Convention of the Ohio Association of County Boards (OACB) on December 5th.

Representative Anne Gonzales of the 19th District and Representative Michael Stinziano of the 18th District received Legislator of the Year awards.

Representative Gonzales represents Westerville, New Albany, Gahanna, Minerva Park, and Sharon, Blendon and Mifflin Townships.

Representative Stinziano represents central Columbus.

"It is truly a credit to our county that two of our legislators earned this recognition," said FCBDD Superintendent Jed Morison. "Representatives Gonzales and Stinziano deserve our thanks."

'Oh, you are so nice to help him.' But he never hesitates to help me."

Mr. Fadel has also served as a volunteer group leader with the Next Chapter reading club.

Speaking at the award luncheon, FCBDD Superintendent Jed Morison said, "Dean is a true gentleman, who strategically and effectively gets things done. He brings solutions to problems rather than criticize or complain."

Mr. Fadel was first appointed to the Franklin County Board of DD by Probate Judge Lawrence Belskis in 2007. He filled the unexpired term of the late Dr. Raymond Horn.

Mr. Fadel is a principal with Public Affairs Advocates, a consulting firm. He is also Vice-President for Government Relations of the Ohio Insurance Institute.

ARC Industries East supports soldiers

The consumers and staff at ARC Industries East are doing their part to make the lives of American soldiers in Afghanistan a little bit more comfortable.

Since September, they have sent ten care packages containing a variety of "goodies," not to mention greeting cards, prayers, and letters from home.

According to staff member Glenna Miller, the project "has given our employees a chance to be on the giving end of something important. Seeing them so happy and proud to be helping others is rewarding."

The project began in September after Army SPC. Kelly Plantz was deployed to Afghanistan. He is the son of staff member Roxanne Plantz.

The soldiers on the receiving end of the care packages have expressed their appreciation. As one put it, "Acts of kindness like this help us realize that people back home haven't forgotten us."

SPC. Kelly Plantz serves with the Army in Afghanistan.

Tim Zeller shops for soldiers.

John Martian, Chris Wagoner, Joel Benis help on the project.

John Martian has a message for his niece who serves in Afghanistan as a member of the Air Force.

Adaptive computers in use at ARC North

Thanks to the variety of programs available, the adaptive computers at ARC Industries North are proving to be a very valuable resource.

Language Development Specialist Michelle Mineo and Certified Occupational Assistant Joan Gillis have been very busy providing programs and activities geared for different groups and ability levels.

"I love using the computer with my group," said staff member Margie Parkman. "The interaction is great."

Activities have included apple picking and pumpkin picking.

Agency leads charitable campaign

FCBDD staff members have pledged $97,964 to the 2013 Combined Charitable Campaign.

Once again FCBDD has led all county agencies in total support for the campaign, a record it has maintained since 2002.

Superintendent Jed Morison lauded the staff's generosity. "I never cease to be amazed at the staff's support of this campaign. Once again they have come through in a big way."

These results "reflect some fantastic work by our building and department coordinators," said Jack Beatty, 2013 campaign coordinator. He thanked all who contributed as well as the volunteer coordinators who helped lead the effort.

Longtime ARC East staff retire

ARC Industries East staff members Jay Blakeslee and Anna Srba retired at the end of December. Together the pair served the agency a total of 65 years.

A breakfast buffet was held in their honor on December 19th. A large number of co-workers and consumers gathered to reminisce and offer best wishes.

Jay Blakeslee served as a Training Specialist for 32 years. Looking back on his career, he reflected: "I will greatly miss the special relationships I have developed with consumers and fellow staff members."

Anna Srba started her career at East as a Program Manager. She later became a Work Adjustment Specialist and then a Habilitation Specialist. Commenting on her 33-year career, Anna noted, "I've seen a lot of our consumers grow up to be mature and productive citizens. I've also met a special group of lifelong friends."

Anna is looking forward to kayaking, gardening, bicycling and visiting friends and family. Jay plans to become a volunteer at the Humane Society.

"We all will miss Jay and Anna very much," said Karen Mills, Acting Director of ARC East. "We wish them the best in their well-deserved retirement."

It will be sent out periodically rather than on a fixed schedule. In keeping with the name, news items will be brief, recognizing that people will be more inclined to read if not too lengthy.

If you would like to receive NewsBits, please send an e-mail to fcbddwebsite@fcbdd.org.

The green spot

by Brian Baldrige, ARC Industries South

The centerpieces that adorned the tables at ARC Industries South's holiday party last month were assembled of all recycled materials. The wreaths were fashioned from branches of abandoned Christmas trees by Janet Mattingly and a group of employees. Later, berries from discarded dried flower arrangements and seed casings from a chestnut tree were added for decoration. The candles were created using heavy tubes, a leftover byproduct of a job completed at the workshop.

The tubes were wrapped in burlap found in an abandoned art kit. Paper drinking cups turned upside down created a stand for twinkling lights (the only item not repurposed). Finally, each candle was accented with a strip of cloth from recycled dish towels. The end result was a simple but beautiful holiday decoration.

At ARC South, we might have dreamed of a white Christmas, but we were green at our holiday party.
